

Workshop

Optical measurement techniques for thermal-hydraulic investigation

Main organizer: VKI

This workshop will focus on velocity measurements (Laser Doppler Velocimetry, Particle Image Velocimetry), temperature measurements (Laser Induced Fluorescent) and two-phase flow void measurements using optical techniques. The theory behind these advanced measurement techniques will be explained and practical examples illustrating the use of them in complex flow configuration will be provided with useful guidelines.